Council Acts On Parking

Wind and rain buffeting Carmel's old wooden city hall last night caused councilmen to pause, at times, in deliberations concerned mostly with parking problems.

At the end of one of the shortest regular city council meetings —less than two hours—the council had extended for one year the interim off-street parking ordinance for new developments in the business zone, and added to it a new requirement. This was that all existing buildings in the commercial area, if the interior floor space is increased by alterations, shall be required to meet the same off-street parking requirements as new construction.

Another requirement in the extended ordinance is that, if parking cannot be provided on a business site, then the required number of "in kind" off-street spaces must be provided within 600 feet of any new or enlarged commercial building. The interim ordinance also burdens all business zone land with either on or off-site parking requirements.

In the "core" retail shopping area on-site parking will not be permitted, however, unless a use permit is approved by the plan-

Chief Klaumann Reports On 1964 Police Activities

Carmel police officers have not been idle during 1964 judging by the annual report of his department which Chief Clyde Klaumann presented to the city council last night. Listed in various categories were 24,821 items which received police attention.

The greatest police activity was issuing citations for traffic violations. During the past year 15,651 persons attracted the attention of the police in this category. The most frequent traffic violation was overtime parking for which 11,317 tickets were issued.

Faulty parking with 1,838 citations came second. Third was excessive speed with 262 violations.

The police department received 5,605 complaints during the past year. Of this number, 457 were concerned with shops and offices. Four hundred and twelve complainants asked for police assistance. Parking complaints totaled 376; traffic collisions, 324. Complaints were received about 259 disturbances.

Reported to the police were more found articles (335) than items lost (241). Theft complaints totaled 385 and included 125 thefts from vehicles, 14 grand thefts, 222 petty thefts and 24 stolen automobiles. Eighty-five prowler complaints were given to the police department and 25 complaints about dogbites. Collision with injury complaints totaled 70; hit run property damage, 89.

Complaints about drunken pedestrians amounted to 45; drunken drivers, 11. Various domestic problems resulted in 47 complaints and there was an equal number concerning hazards. The sum of burglary complaints was 20 residences and 12 shops. Various entries caused 36 complaints.

Carmel police received 504 complaints about persons wanted for traffic violations and processed 915 local warrants; 356 from out-

The Rhyming Philosopher

By Harry W. Fletcher

No. 89

Did you hear how John McFester went to meet his final rest? He was greeted by Saint Peter, who inquired his last request. Johnny said I'm tired of people, sick of work and noises, too; make me be a king or equal, without anything to do.

So, he got his wish — imagine — thinking this is heaven, sure; with no wife or kids to nag him, and no worries to endure. All his life he'd spent complaining ev'ryone was wrong but he; now, at last, he was attaining what he thought was ecstacy.

But, when idle time got endless, as he sat there all alone, he got tired of being friendless, and called Peter on the phone. Said he I've been two hundred year in here since nineteen-seven; I'd sooner go to Hell, I fear, than stand much more of heaven.

Saint Peter said, "Look here, my lad, you've earned your wish quite well. But Heaven isn't what you've had—that place you're in IS Hell!"

Editor's Column

In just six months, unless there are unforeseen developments, the Carmel Unified School District will turn Sunset School over to the city. Purchase of the school and its two-block site for a municipal cultural and community center was completed last week.

In April, Carmel voters permitted the purchase of the school when they overwhelmingly approved a $575,000 bond issue to pay the $550,000 purchase price and $25,000 incidental expenses.

Since July members of the Sunset Committee, headed by Frank Putnam, have been seeking solutions as to how the school can be developed into the proposed center, also maintained and financed.

In the committee's interim report in September, the city council was advised that development of the center should be undertaken by a non-profit organization under a long-term lease with the city. This group, composed of representatives of cultural organizations, should turn the center over to the city unencumbered when the development was completed, the report added.

The council didn't say "yes" or "no" to this proposal but told the committee to "labor on."

More laboring by the finance subcommittee of the Sunset Committee resulted in November in a report by its chairman, Dr. James Gilman, that the north playfield on the Sunset site, with very little work and money could be made into a municipal parking lot. Income from this lot, plus rental of the auditorium and other parts of the school, would provide the necessary annual funds to operate Sunset as a center, Dr. Gilman

Security National Bank Opens Carmel Branch

City officials and other prominent citizens attended the opening of Carmel's newest bank on Monday. An impressive ribbon-cutting ceremony, with Mayor Herbert Blanks cutting the ribbon, preceded the open house which will last through Saturday. During this time coffee and cookies are being served to the public. The new bank is the first Peninsula-owned bank to open in Carmel in 41 years.

The new bank is also the fourth new branch for Security National Bank since William A. Burkett purchased the bank in 1961. Besides the Pacific Grove headquarters, the other existing branch offices are at Carmel Rancho, Seaside, and Marina. The Carmel downtown branch is located at the corner of Ocean Avenue and Lincoln Street in the Pine Inn complex. It features beautiful Colonial decor which includes walnut paneling, a carpeted lobby, antique furniture, and a fireplace.

Robert H. Parsons, vice president of the bank, will manage the Carmel branch. Before joining Security National Bank, Mr. Parsons was vice president and cashier of the Bank of Aspen, Colorado, also of the First National Bank, Alamosa, Colorado. Prior to this he served as an officer of the First Westchester National Bank in New Rochelle, New York. He attended Tufts University in Massachusetts and is a graduate of the American Institute of Banking. He has also served as an instructor at that institution. More recently, Mr. Parsons has been in charge of operations of Security National Bank's four branches.

Colonel W. Webster Downer will serve as assistant manager of the new Carmel branch. He has been new business manager for the bank's Carmel Rancho and Pacific

ANNEXATION PETITIONS

The city council will meet in adjourned session at 5 p.m. on January 19 to consider allowing residents of areas which have indicated a desire to join the city to circulate annexation petitions.

This matter could not be acted upon last night because necessary legal boundary descriptions of the land concerned had not been given to the city.

The land is situated south of Carmel and includes Mission Fields, the Walker and Mission tracts and portions of Hatton Fields Mesa.

Fatal Accident On Coast Road

Killed on Tuesday night was Birin Chandra Awashti when his car plunged through the guard rail and over a 350-foot cliff into the sea on a curve at the lookout below Highlands Inn.

Mr. Awashti was born in India on December 20, 1929.

Funeral services, pending at Mission Mortuary, await the arrival of Mr. Awashti's wife, Lydia, from Seattle, Washington. In addition to his wife, Mr. Awashti is survived by two small children.

Carmelites Open Hands And Heart To Visitors From 18 Foreign Lands

BY JINNY ZACK

What seemed at first to be a monumental task for one person turned into a Carmel community project imbued with the true spirit of giving on Christmas Eve.

The seemingly overwhelming task was to give a typical American party for 40 people from all over the world. All Fulbright scholars and teachers of English in their own countries, the busload of visitors, also members of the International Teachers' Development organization, were touring the Western states during vacation from a six-months course of study in the United States. Carmel was just one of their overnight stops.

The project began several weeks before Christmas when reservations were made for the visitors at our motel. A similar group had stayed with us for one night last year, and that evening a very impromptu get-together was held in one of our cottages. This year, the group was to be here on Christmas Eve and their sponsors asked if we could plan for them to take part in some community activity.

Not knowing of a community activity except services at Carmel churches, we offered to plan a party to be given in our largest cottage. This offer was hastily accepted by the sponsors who sent us a suggested menu and told us how much they were budgeting for this.

Giving a party, of course, can be, and usually is, fun. When it involves 40 people, all strangers to the hosts and even to this country, also a budget which isn't half as much as it should be and preparations which have to be made during the busy Christmas season, as well as the hosts' three small children who have to be visited by Santa Claus on the same night as the party, plus the busiest season of the year—that's another story, and here it is:

Early on the Monday before Christmas I started out to buy the turkey, roast beef and ham which had been requested. Learning that the cost of this, alone, would take almost the entire budget left me in a quandary. How was I to get this party together on the money that had been alloted?

I didn't really expect to get the answer at a newspaper office but my next stop was at the Pine Cone. The editor had been interested in this group when I mentioned it to her earlier and I found myself telling her my problems. "Why don't you make it a community project?" she suggested.

So back out into the rain I went. Two groceries, one hotel, one restaurant and a department store gave promises of a ham, a turkey, hors d'oeuvres, and wine for the punch. The party was under way!

Next day visits to five more restaurants and two more grocery stores brought promises of more food, also the assurance from a grocer that any other things that were needed could be bought at a 20% discount. Now the party was really taking shape!

A Santa Claus, also some gifts for him to give the guests, and a Christmas tree to "Americanize" the party further seemed to be all that was needed now. The generous salesman at the Carmel Youth Center Christmas tree lot willingly put a beautiful tree in the car and I was off to find a Santa Claus suit at the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department, but their suit was being used on Christmas Eve. Then home to call my son's Cub Scout leader to see where they had obtained the Santa suit they used at the Cubs' party. He told me to call, of all people, a personal friend and neighbor, Tony Hrusa, who gladly loaned his Santa suit.

Then came the search for a Santa Claus. My husband was much too tall for the suit. Everybody else I called just couldn't make it on Christmas Eve, but finally Santa walked right into our house—a teenage boy who was one of the guests at our motel, Carmel Cottages. He was delighted with the idea of being Santa Claus.

Wednesday, the day before Christmas Eve, was spent for the most part in getting the living room of Cottage 19 ready and a short trip downtown for token gifts for Santa Claus to give to each guest. These were purchased, wrapped, and placed in Santa's bag.

On Christmas Eve afternoon, which was just as wet and rainy as the previous three days had been, we greeted the busload of guests and got them settled in their "overnight home." Then they set out on a jaunt to downtown Carmel.

A few non-rainy hours gave them a chance to see some of the sights there. It also gave me a chance to take our station wagon downtown to collect the offerings which had been promised, then back home with all this food. It was distributed to several different kitchens to be kept cold (or hot in some cases) until time for the party. (A motel which has 14 cottages with kitchens is a real blessing at a time like this.) After it had been determined just what was lacking, another trip to the store was made and another load of food brought back.

At 7:00 o'clock that evening, two of our children and I introduced about a dozen of the group to another American custom—caroling. Everybody donned rain hoods and walking shoes for the short trip to nearby Carmel Convalescent Home. Christmas caroling is not entirely foreign to these people—we were told that they gather in homes for the singing of Christmas hymns, but going from house to house or to institutions is an American custom which seemed to thrill the singers as much as the singing thrilled the people in the home.

After walking back to the motel (the heavens were kind to us), the carolers joined the rest of the group for what was, for many, their first Christmas away from home.

At this point, the spirit of giving by many of Carmel's business people came into view. The buffet table was laden with typical American party fare.

The line going around the buffet table was at first very slow. It was evident that much of the food was new to the visitors and they put just a small portion on their plates, tasted it, grinned, and then went back for more.

Soon the food had disappeared and, after the table was cleared, out came a guitar and the music started. Watching these people from all parts of the world was a joy. There were Japanese, Chinese, Koreans, East Indians, South Americans and Europeans, all singing songs. Then they started to sing Chrismas hymns — these Buddhists and Moslems and Shintos, as well as Christians—this was really food for thought.

Next each guest was "interviewed" on a tape recorder. Along with name and city and country, invariably would come an expression of thanks to all American people for their kindness and hospitality.

About 11:00 we departed, gathered up our reindeer, filled up the sleigh and went down our own chimney. When we left the party, a few others left to go to Midnight Mass, but the singing, plus dancing and general good fun in Cottage 19 went on until 3:00 or 4:00 the next morning.

About 11:00 o'clock Christmas morning, 40 people looking bright and happy after their short stay in Carmel, climbed aboard the bus to continue their tour. In a few days they will again become students for another month before they return to their own countries.

The 40 visitors will take back to West Pakistan, Japan, Uruguay, Free China, Ecuador, Chile, Brazil, Jugoslavia, Nicaragua, Paraguay, Korea, Costa Rica, Turkey, Finland, Argentina, Bolivia, Colombia and Peru the memory of a Christmas Eve party made possible by generous Carmelites . . . and the image of the United States will be brighter abroad.

In a unique double ceremony performed by the bride's father, the Reverend Alfred B. Seccombe, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Walnut Creek, and Rabbi William Stern of Temple Sinai, Margaret Welbourn Seccombe and Benson Samuel Brown of Montreal, Canada, were united in marriage in accordance with the rituals of their respective religious faiths on December 28.

The nuptials took place in St. Paul's rectory before a small gathering of close friends. The bride was given away by her eldest brother, William Tyson Seccombe II. Elizabeth Burdon Seccombe, a University of California freshman, was her sister's maid of honor. Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Morton Brown of Montreal, currently a student at Princeton University.

The bride, known as Meg to hosts of Carmel friends, was born in New Haven, Connecticut, and came here with her family as a tiny girl when her father became rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church in 1947.

Meg attended Sunset School and was in the sixth grade when, in 1954, her father was called to Emanuel Episcopal Church in Webster Groves, Missouri.

It was in 1961 that the Seccombe family returned to California when Mr. Seccombe became rector of St. Paul's in Walnut Creek.

Meg attended Earlham College in Indiana; Washington University in St. Louis, and is currently a sociology major at the University of California, Berkeley.

The bridegroom, who will be awarded his Ph.D. at U.C., Berkeley, this month, earned his B.S. at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He has taught at the University of Sao Paulo, Brazil, also was guest lecturer at McGill University in Montreal, Canada.

Following a brief honeymoon in Carmel, Professor and Mrs. Brown returned to Berkeley where they will reside until Mrs. Brown completes her studies at the university there.

Carmel guests at the wedding included the Reverend David Hill, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, and Mrs. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McEwen and the Reverend Samuel Earl Smith who is on the faculty of the York School for Boys.

Home In Honolulu

Here for the holidays, also a whirl of entertainment in their honor, were Clifford and Wendy Ograin of Honolulu. Wendy is the daughter of Raymond and Jean Draper, and granddaughter of Robert Leidig of Carmel and Jess Draper of Palo Colorado.

Joining the young couple on Christmas Eve, and also house-guests of the Drapers, were the senior Clifford Ograins of Southern California.

Michael Draper, a junior at the University of Arizona, arrived home just in time to hang his Christmas sock, returning to the Arizona campus last Sunday. Susan Draper and her young friends added to the jollity of the household.

Wendy and her husband left Carmel the day after Christmas, and stayed at the home of Clifford's parents for the New Year celebration before flying back to Honolulu.

Greetings From Abroad

Three Christmas greetings from the other side of the world reached me early this week, a bit late to be sure, but so welcome.

From Rhea Diveley came a crimson satin embossed card, the portrait of a most impressive mandarin. Rhea writes, "As I write, we are rolling through a monsoon in the China Sea. We left Hong Kong several days ago and are bound for Singapore; then ports of call new to me. By the time this Chinese Santa Claus reaches you I will be in Persia. A glorious 1965 to you and all my Carmel friends."

Mrs. Diveley, an insatiable globe trotter, has been touring the Far East since October. She expects to return to Carmel in late March.

From Mausita and Walter Jennings, "at home" in Baghdad where Walter is teaching in Al Hikma University, a long and colorful letter on illustrated stationary carrying the footnote "Starlight . . . contributed by Adolph Oehlen of the Federal Republic of Germany to benefit UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund."

The letter tells of Mausita's creation of a dozen plum puddings, to be gift-wrapped and given to friends before the Jennings' departure on Christmas Eve for Cairo.

Home life in Baghdad, as Mausita writes of it, sounds like a tale straight out of the Arabian Nights; but both she and Walter love it! News to delight their Carmel friends, the Jennings will be home again next summer.

And the third Christmas greeting from afar was from Mrs. Gabrielle Kuster, telling of her plan to join the Jenningses in Cairo.

Gay has been traveling since last Spring. With Athens as her base, through November and early December she visited Rhodes and Crete and ancient Dubrovnik in Dalmatia.

"On December 15, in a really terrible storm I flew to Istanbul and on to Beirut where, through the courtesy of Pan-Am I was a guest at the fabulous St. George Hotel where I was pampered to my heart's delight. From Beirut I flew to Jordan and that led me to the wildest taxi ride of my life, across the desert to Jerusalem! I joined friends in Jerusalem for visits to Jericho, Bethlehem and Petra, then on to Damascus and the Dead Sea. And! this will be news to you, I've become quite an equestrian, because in these ancient spots, many so-called roads and streets are scarcely wide enough for a lean horse, let alone a car!"

Christmas Eve was the date set for Gay and Walter and Mausita Jennings to meet in Cairo for one short week, as Walter was due back in Baghdad on January 2. Gay plans to visit the Jennings in their home later this month.

We got so many calendars this year that we will never ever have to wonder what day it is, no matter where we are—there are even two in the back bathroom. Someone gave us a marvelous 200-year calendar and, as my Happy New Year present, I'm going to share with you something I learned from it.

The days in the years 1802, 1813, 1819, 1830, 1841, 1847, 1858, 1869, 1875, 1886, 1897, 1909, 1915, 1926, 1937, 1943, 1954, 1965, 1971, 1982, 1993 and 1999 all fall on the same dates! Thus, we will celebrate next Theodore Roosevelt's birthday on its really-for-true day —October 27. Isn't that nice? Sort of gives us Republicans something to look forward to in 1965.

Friends have been receiving letters from John and Amy Ruster and it makes me awfully glad I'm here and not in Germany — although they do describe Weinachten in Pirmasens as simply lovely. Not so lovely are Amy's cold feet. What with cathedrals ("the more beautiful, the colder") and museums ("for a quick freeze") and eiderdown poufs that seem to have been made for midgets, Amy's poor toes are a permanent blue. But she does love Germany and is enjoying so much getting to know John's relatives. And of course, ten-year-old Johnny thinks snow three feet high is the greatest thing that ever happened.

Statistics are misleading, more often than not. Next time somebody tells you eight out of every 12 smoke a certain cigarette or give birth to redheads in July or cut steak with their right hands, don't give it a second thought. Oh, you can smile him a polite "Well, I never!" but don't go altering your way of life over it. Because what he's talking about is probably some little survey done in Seesquinch, Nebraska, by the company that makes right-handed steak knives.

Some statistics do make sense, though, and very grim sense at that.

The holiday traffic death toll, for instance. And no telling how many injuries. I got to wondering about Carmel's part in these statistics so I made a survey of my own.

I called insurance agents first to see if they'd had any claims due to holiday accidents at Christmas. Jim Mustard, George Shorey, Enos Fouratt and Ernest Morehouse had none; P.A. McCreery had one little, bitty old brushed fender at the post office parking lot. Dale Leidig had no holiday accident damage to repair at his Texaco station and Burgess' Richfield had just two small ones. The Carmel police report only a few minor collisions.

But at Community Hospital I was told that, of the nine seriously injured traffic victims brought in between December 24 and the 29, six were Carmel residents but their accidents occurred outside Carmel.

In order to get into an accident you just about have to be moving. Unless you're like Peter Ferrante a few years ago. He had carefully parked his car near a San Francisco restaurant one day and was just walking away when crash! bang!—his car was hit from the rear. "Hey you!" yelled the irate offender, "Why the ---- don't you learn to drive."

I want you to know my New Year's resolutions. There aren't many and they're very easy to keep. I know because I got them from my son when he was eight years old and I've resolved them every year since.

1. Always do the hard part first.
2. Keep stuff off the floor like comic books and gum but not shoes.
3. Don't clobber guys for no reason.
4 Be as good as you can to everybody, even mean people.

VANCE PACKARD TO SPEAK AT MPC NEXT WEEK

"The Naked Society" is the title of the talk which Vance Packard will give in the Monterey Peninsula College Armory on January 15 at 8 p.m. He gave the same title to his latest book. Mr. Packard is also the author of "The Hidden Persuaders" and "The Status Seekers."

Free tickets for the lecture—at a limit of four per request—are available in the college's administration building.

Carmel Residents Aid Flood Victims

"The forecast for Red Cross expenditures for flood relief reaches millions," said Carl Bosholm, chairman of the Carmel Red Cross.

"While it is too early to arrive at definite cost figures, preliminary indications are that Red Cross West Coast flood relief expenditures will probably be in the neighborhood of $5 million. This would be nearly equal to the cost of all disasters in 1964. No special fund campaign is planned, but voluntary contributions are welcomed by all chapters," he added.

Carmel residents, as usual, are contributing to the disaster relief fund. To date over $1,000 has been received from Mrs. Julia K. Dean, Miss L. Lucile Turner, Roy Alderson, Mrs. Beulah D. Haywood, Mrs. Helen Denbo, Burton M. Doolittle, H. L. Kraft, Miss Aimee W. Doolittle, Miss Marjorie Fontana, Mrs. Bessie Haasis, J. O. Handley, Leonard Carpenter, Col. D. W. McEnery, Mrs. Helen S. Hannum, Ken Brown of Village Inn, Mrs. Wesley R. Heard, Mrs. Ethel M. Gilleland, Mrs. Maud Howe, and Willard Neumann of Forest Lodge. These funds are forwarded as received to the Western Area Office.

DESIGNER GOING TO MEXICO

Designer Lesley Kamstra is leaving soon for two years in Mexico, a period which will be devoted to acquiring unusual and little known fabrics and fashioning and fabricating her distinctive wearing apparel known as Big Sur Originals.

For the most part, the costumes are made of handwoven cotton in gay, solid colors and/or bright color combinations and patterns.

Her originals can be identified at once, if not for the unique handwoven fabric or the meticulous gathering of the yoke, which gives a decided touch of femininity, then for the "Mendalla" which adorns the gown just below the neckline. The "Mendalla" is a carefully designed and executed "circle" embroidered of yarn on an open weave material and then appliqued onto the completed costume.

Lesley Kamstra and her husband, Jerry, and their daughter, Miakje, and son, Doekle, will drive to Mexico and hope to soon be established near Guadalajara, perhaps on Lake Chapala. Mr. Kamstra, a writer, is presently engaged in writing a novel. The "going to Mexico" is no new adventure for the Kamstra family for they have been traveling back and forth between this country and Mexico for some years. Little daughter Miakje was born in Mexico and has dual citizenship. "When she is 18," says her mother, "she can decide which country she wishes to claim for her own."

POINT SUR LIGHT

A handsome new sign with raised wooden letters has been placed at the entrance gate to the United States Coast Guard Station on Highway One inviting passersby to visit the Point Sur Light Station situated on the northern ledge of that unmistakable landmark on the Sur Coast. The station is open every afternoon from 1 until 3 o'clock and on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays from 1 until 4 p.m. For the most enjoyment, the visitor should choose a clear, calm day and allow an hour or two for the tour. Visitors are not permitted to drive to the station but must use the parking area at the foot of the hill. The walk to the station is about a mile and a half roundtrip.

The Point Sur Light Station has been in operation for almost 80 years at its location 270 feet above the level of the sea. The construction work was largely done by people living in the area of Big Sur at that time and many of the building materials are native. The light itself was fabricated in France and consists of a series of magnifying lenses. A single 1,000-watt bulb, placed inside, is magnified to a 1,600,000 candle power and is visible for over 20 miles. It is turned on one-half hour before sunset and off one-half hour after sunrise. It "burns" in the daytime when visibility is less than five miles.

M.S. PATIENT TO RECEIVE WHEELCHAIR

Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Levin of Salinas some patient afflicted with multiple sclerosis who resides in the Monterey Bay area will have the use of an all electric wheelchair, according to Albert F. Randolph, chairman of the local chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Any person who is interested in being considered as the recipient of the chair, or who knows of a patient needing a chair, is requested to write a letter of request to Randolph, Box 447, Monterey, outlining the need for such a chair. At a meeting of the chapter, to be held on January 20 in the board room of the Monterey Hospital, all such letters will be screened and the group will decide to whom this valuable aid will be provided.

Other officers of the chapter are Dr. R P. Parsons of Carmel, treasurer, and Mrs. Walter Warfield, secretary.

Report On Russia For Kiwanis Club

At the Carmel Kiwanis Club meeting on the last day of 1964, Sue Wiseman gave a graphic report of her visit to the Soviet Union. One of six women delegates sent by the privately supported U.S. Committee for International Friendly Visits, Mrs. Wiseman was selected to represent the Monterey Peninsula by Mrs. Gallatin Powers, chairman of the local committee. She emphasized retrospective impressions of her July trip at the Kiwanis luncheon.

"We found our official (Soviet) hosts and hostesses most cordial," Mrs. Wiseman said, "there was no feeling of surveillance, even when I went off exploring by myself, which I did, frequently. Difference in language seemed to be the only barrier. But, in looking back today, I think that there is a grave misunderstanding of the United States in the minds of Soviet civilians that should be erased.

"The Soviet man in the street is completely convinced that his counterpart here is an economically enslaved citizen. That, from coast to coast, we are ruled by a group of 100 capitalists who completely control our economy and, subsequently, our social existence."

Mrs. Wiseman visited Moscow, Kiev, Yalta and Tbilisi while covering 10,000 miles within the Soviet Union.

"One couldn't call the Soviet Union a scene of prosperity, at least, not according to our standards. In some areas there was evidence of dire poverty. But in general the people seemed happy, and our visit was one of courtesy not criticism," she observed.

Upon her request to visit the plant of "Pravda" the Soviet official newspaper, Mrs. Wiseman was taken on a complete tour of the editorial offices and press rooms and all doors were opened to her.

Mr. Morley's subject was "I Saw Today's Facts and Frauds Around the World."

Mrs. William L. Sumner, hospitality chairman had, as her assistants, Mrs. Adolph Nicolai, Mrs. Raymond Taylor and Mrs. Clare Appleby. Those serving tea were Mrs. H. C. Schroeder, Mrs. Barry Jones, Mrs. Frederick Knudsen and Mrs. Ian Belangee.

'Goodbye Charlie' At Studio Is Rare Fun For The Uninhibited

BY CAROLYN ELSTOB

"Goodbye Charlie," a Broadway winner, opened on New Year's Eve at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant, before a standing-room-only audience that cheered the final curtain.

The slightly mad concoction of zany situations, starting off with the return from the dead of thoroughly immoral and irresistible (to ladies, especially married ladies) w-o-l-f, is by the fearless playwright, George Axelrod.

To explain "Goodbye Charlie" in cold newsprint would be a shame. The frolic of murder, mayhem and double-talk is not for little old ladies. If you are not a l.o.l., for an evening of uproarious improbable comedy, see the Studio production.

The "jet set" cast of five character gives a highly professional performance. Outstanding are Ginny Frank as Charlie and the theatre's actor-director, Michael Keller, as Charlie's loyal but bemused pal, George Tracy. Almost constantly on stage through two hours of explosive situations, Mrs. Frank and Mr. Keller play their many faceted roles straight. Through swiftly paced dialogue, to say nothing of chasing from divan to bar and back again, the pair captivated an audience weak with laughter.

For this reviewer the high point of comedy was Mrs. Frank's scene with Mr. Keller, after just a few too many martinis. Even more enthralling than her beautifully blurred elocution was her loose-limbed "dance" atop divans and up and down steps with her anxious "pal" in urgent pursuit.

As Rusty Mayerling, the wife who had delightedly erred with Charlie during his "first life," Virginia Beattie, a fine actress, didn't seem too happily cast. Her characterization might have had just a trifle more sweetness—a lighter touch.

Lovely Ruth Anderson, in a deplorably brief role, made a lasting and happy impression. We kept wishing, too, that Winston Sargeant, as the suave and elegant Greg Morris, might reappear on stage. His cameo characterization was highly polished.

The sophisticated, glamorous costuming by Adele Bramlet added tremendously to the comedy's success. Mrs. Frank's spectacular hair-dos were created by Mr. Nick of the June Turner Salon.

The colorful contemporary "Malibu" setting was designed and executed by talented Ruth Jordan Allan, who also acted as production stage manager. Properties were deftly handled by Johnny Frank.

It is a case of the last should be first in paying tribute now to Director Roy Baxter. He manipulated the cast of highly individualized characters with rare finesse.

"Goodbye Charlie," produced by Betty Hackett and Royden Martin, may be seen Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings. Dinner is served from 6:30 to 7:30 and curtain time is 8:30 o'clock. If you are not too, too inhibited you will find the Studio Theatre's current offering rare fun.

Going To Inauguration

First came a letter from Vice President-elect Hubert Humphrey urging Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Barron to come to Washington D.C. for inauguration ceremonies. Last week the formal invitation to the Presidential Inauguration arrived. As a result of both communications, Betty and Gerry Barron will leave San Francisco on the charter flight arranged by the California Inaugural Committee on January 17.

Both the Barrons are active Democrats. Gerry was in charge of the speaker's bureau for the Monterey Peninsula Democratic Club prior to last year's election. Betty is publicity chairman for the Carmel Women's Democratic Club. She is also the cousin of Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman. It was he, when Betty and Gerry were undergraduates at the University of Minnesota, who first introduced them to Mr. Humphrey, a graduate student.

At this time both Gerry and Secretary Freeman were pre-law students taking the same graduate course in political science as Mr. Humphrey.

CONCERT ASSN. PRESENTS DANCERS FROM INDIA

Sujata and Asoka, world famous dancers from India, will appear in concert at the Pacific Grove Junior High School auditorium on Wednesday evening at 8:15 p.m.

The two dancers—Sujata is a native of Bombay, and Asoka a European who went to the Orient—derived their art from priests of traditional temples; from frescoes and paintings centuries old; and, in the case of Asoka, from the almost inaccessible monasteries of Tibet. Costumes have been made by native weavers in India. Special music for the program was composed and recorded in India.

Admission to the concert is limited to members, and to members of similar concert associations affiliated with the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association.

In a beautiful setting of tall pines and scarlet poinsettias, Ellen McKelvey, the daughter of Mrs. Donald Paul McKelvey of Carmel, and Henry Martin Weyrauch III of San Francisco were married on December 27 in All Saints' Episcopal Church by the Reverend David Hill.

Given in marriage by her brother, Richard McKelvey, Ellen's gown of ivory satin was a classic empire model with a voluminous train. The bodice and wrist-length sleeves of the dress were overlaid with alencon lace. Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion net was held by a tiny crown of lace with seed pearl embroidery and she carried long-stemmed white roses.

Mrs. William Graeble Jr. of Logan, Utah, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor; Nicki Wilson and Marcia McGinnis were bridesmaids. The attendants wore floor-length, long-sleeved dresses of emerald green velvet with matching tiny net satin bowed hats and carried sheaths of American beauty roses.

Edward Steiger acted as Henry's best man, and ushers were Clint Weyrauch, brother of the bridegroom, and Richard Cerruti.

Mrs. McKelvey chose a wine-colored velvet dress with matching hat for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of pink orchids.

The bridegroom's mother Mrs. Henry Martin Weyrauch of San Francisco, wore a formal afternoon ensemble of brown antique satin, lace trimmed, and a green and white orchid corsage.

White spider chrysanthemums, white carnations and holly banked the drawing room and dining room of the bride's home where the reception for close friends and relatives of the bride and bridegroom was held.

The wedding party received the guests in front of a glittering Christmas tree. The tiered wedding cake was decorated with tiny white swans and roses.

Clad in a turquoise blue wool ensemble, Mrs. Weyrauch with her husband left by car on their honeymoon. They had planned a ski country holiday, but because of the stormy weather, made last minute plans to travel southward.

Ellen, a graduate of Carmel High School, attended Smith College then transferred to the University of California, Berkeley, where she will graduate within a few weeks. Afterwards, she plans to enter the U.C. school of business administration.

A graduate of the University of California, Berkeley, Henry (known as Marty to his family and friends) is a third year medical student at the UC school of medicine in San Francisco where the young couple will live.

Out of town guests at the wedding and reception, friends and relatives of the bride and bridegroom, were from Pasadena, Sacramento, Oakland, San Francisco and Logan, Utah.

Art News . . . .

After four years with radio station KRML, Anthony Stone, creator and commentator of the station's classical music programs, has transferred his interest to fine art. Mr. Stone is now assistant to Artist Danny Garcia in his sales gallery and curator of Mr. Garcia's gallery of modern art. Both galleries are at Dolores and Sixth.

The second annual Religious Art Show sponsored by the Catholic Chapel Guild will open on Wednesday in the ballroom of the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School and remain on display through January 17. The public is invited to this exhibition during the evening on January 12-15 and all day on January 16 and 17. A prize of $300 will be given to the professional entry judged the best in the show. Another $300 will be divided between first and second places in the professional class plus other awards to amateur artists. An invitational champagne preview of the show will be given on Tuesday.

Storm warnings were heeded by Richard Lofton just before Christmas. As a result, he headed home from the mountains with the oil paint on pictures he had painted in Alpine Meadows still moist. The snow scenes, set out to dry in Carmel, delighted visitors to his home and studio during the holiday season.

The annual meeting of the Carmel Art Association will be held on Monday evening in the association's gallery on Dolores Street at 7:30 p.m. All active members are expected to attend. The outgoing president of the association is Mrs. Douglas MacGregor. She called a special meeting of the board of directors on Monday evening.

The January exhibit of members' work opened today. Clarence Bates headed the hanging committee this month.

Artists throughout California are invited to participate in the annual All-California Art Exhibition at the 1965 National Orange Show in San Bernardino, March 11-21.

A total of $1,250 in cash awards will go to exhibiting artists—$300 for the best oil, $200 for the best watercolor and another $200 for the best sculpture.

Second-place awards of $100 each will be given for both conservative and modern oils, conservative and modern watercolors, also in sculpture. Honorable mention awards of $10 are also set for each category.

Brochures with entry forms and complete details of the exhibition may be secured by writing: All-California Art Exhibition, National Orange Show, P.O. Box 29, San Bernardino, Calif. Completed entry forms must be returned by February 10.

Ballots have been mailed to members of the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the American Federation of Arts nominating ten trustees. They are Mrs. Shreve Archer Jr., Mrs. William Arnold, Roderick Dewar, Dr. William Fitzhugh, Mrs. Roger Hope, Sam Karas, all incumbents, also Mrs. Herbert Meyer, Mrs. William E. Oberholtzer, Mrs. Robert Work and Mrs. E. E. Yeomans. Results of the returned ballots will be announced at the annual A.F.A. membership meeting on January 19.

The holdover trustees on the present board are Leonard Heller, Charles Simpson, Mrs. Rutledge Bray, Harold Willis, Mrs. Hugh Dormody, Mrs. Jennison Heaton, Mrs. Harry Lusignan, Mrs. Philip H. Smith, Mrs. Robert Stanton, Mrs. Al Wiseman, Steve Crouch, Miss Alice Harwood, Ansel Adams, Mrs. August Armanasco, Mrs. James T. Duke Jr., Mrs. W. W. Durney, Henry E. Huntington II, Mrs. Richard Osborne, Mrs. William B. Pringle and Leo Tanous.

AUDUBON SOCIETY NEWS

Dr. Keith White, research ecologist of the Hastings Natural History Reservation in upper Carmel Valley, will be the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society to be held tomorrow evening in the music room of Carmel High School. Dr. White, who will talk on the ecology of Hastings oak woodlands, will use color slides to illustrate his address.

Steinbeck Continues Sophia Loren Film

Traditionally the French see love as perpetual romance, and the English view it somewhat more stoically. The Italians? Sophia Loren and Marcello Mastroianni answer that question in "Marriage Italian Style," now playing at the Steinbeck Theatre in Monterey.

"Marriage Italian Style" plays tonight, Friday and Saturday at 7 and 9:30. Sunday performances are at 5, 7, and 9 p.m. Weekdays the film will be shown at 7 and 9:30 p.m.

Basically, the Italian method may be characterized, too, as "all's fair in love and war." But, in truth, "no holds barred" may be more to the point, as the new screen team of Miss Loren and Mastroianni demonstrate.

Miss Loren portrays a woman tired of being kept. To prevent her lover, Mastroianni, from marrying another girl, she pretends to be dying. Mastroianni marries her, acceding to her "death bed" wish. But, quickly she recovers. Not so Mastroianni!

Tempestuous, volatile, uproarious, the team of Miss Loren and Mastroianni is one of the most attractive, versatile and popular in film history.

Glenn C. Holmes

A resident of Carmel for the past three years, Glenn C. Holmes, died on January 1, following a long illness.

A native of Marion, Iowa, Mr. Holmes was born on January 2, 1893. A veteran of World War I, during which he served in the U.S. Navy, Mr. Holmes came to California in 1920. Before coming to make his home in Carmel he lived in the Mendota area.

A member of the Church of the Wayfarer, Mr. Holmes has been prominent in the Masonic order since 1919. At the time of his death he was a member of Carmel Lodge No. 680, F&AM.

In addition to his wife, Mary Anne, Mr. Holmes is survived by a brother, Bernie Holmes of Indianapolis, Indiana.

Services were held on Tuesday in the Paul Funeral Chapel with the Reverend Lawrence K. Whitfield officiating and members of the Carmel Masonic Lodge serving as pallbearers.

Burial took place in El Carmelo cemetery.

HAVE YOU MET DUFFY YET?

Duffy is Lois Renk's new associate. He joined us on Christmas Day through the kindness of a client of ours from Florida (who, like all our clients, had become a good friend, too). In spite of his tender age—6 months—he is already becoming experienced in his new profession and following our long established policy of thoroughly investigating our listings, being sincerely interested in our clients and their problems, and loving the lovely land with which he is privileged to spend his working day.

He can't join the Carmel Board of Realtors because they have a stuffy regulation about realtors with more than 3 feet, but he does have a subscription to the Wall Street Journal, although at the moment he does use it for other purposes than educational ones.

In a consultation with Duffy regarding one of our favorite 2 bedroom, 2 bath listings, and why we haven't sold it yet, he told us that the explanation was very simple: all we need is a buyer who would not only appreciate the built-in kitchen and large paneled living room with its beamed ceiling, lovely carpets and drapes, and 30' window wall, but who would be owned by a DOG who would recognize that the enchanting walled patio was Exactly What He Had Been Looking For. If you know a dog who needs a new home and he happens to have owners looking for the nicest little home in Carmel for $35,000, please call Duffy or anyone at

Grove offices, also assistant manager of the Seaside branch.

President Burkett stated that the new Carmel branch would continue the policy which he established in 1961 by being open 49 hours each week to serve the needs of the businessmen and residents of the community. The bank's doors are open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Saturdays. In keeping with its tradition of building sound conservative banking policies with modern application, according to Mr. Burkett, the Security National Bank was the first and only local bank to announce the new interest rate of 4½% on time savings certificates.

The history of Security National Bank's recent growth would not be complete without naming the outstanding team of citizens of this area whom Mr. Burkett has invited to serve with him on the board of directors and on the bank's advisory board. The board consists of Dr. Irvin Bussing, former professor of banking at Columbia University, and president of Lowell, Smith & Evers Mortgage Bankers; Mrs. Juliet J. Burkett, president of Securities Properties Corporation and Burkett & Company Inc., investments; Mrs. Juliet Ann Hooker of Beverly Hills; Dr. Clyn Smith, Jr., Monterey surgeon; Edwin H. Ewig, retired vice president, Bank of Carmel, and president, Cypress Mortgage Company; and Vernon Hurd, civic leader and general manager of Holman's Department Store.

The bank's advisory board pays particular attention to advising the bank of the economic and civic needs of the Peninsula. Its membership reads like a Who's Who of the community:

New Play Opens At Circle January 15

William Gibson's stirring account of that hot Alabama summer in the 1880's when a stubborn Irish governess named Annie Sullivan came face to face with a deaf, blind and savage little girl named Helen Keller will be brought to life on the stage of the Circle Theatre beginning January 15.

Gibson's tremendously successful play, "The Miracle Worker," is famous for its scenes of violent action, in which child and teacher struggle blow by blow towards the enlightenment which made Helen Keller a world-renowned symbol of handicaps overcome. The problem of adapting the Circle Theatre to the play's multiple settings and extraordinary physical demands has required weeks of experimentation by designer Rick Beck-Meyer and director Nick Zanides.

A seven-week run, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 o'clock, is planned at the Circle, with January 29 announced as a benefit for the Unitarian Church of the Monterey Peninsula.

ASK TO MOVE STATUE

The arts commission will consider a request to move the statue of Father Junipero Serra now situated in Devendorf Plaza to the southwest corner of Monte Verde and Ocean. The city council referred this request from the Carmel Art Association to the commission last week.

The art association asked that the carved redwood statue be moved because foliage now almost completely hides it from public view.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The spiritual demands of "Sacrament" will be brought out in the communion service to be held this Sunday at all Christian Science branch churches and societies.

Bible verses to be considered include the "new commandment" given by Jesus: "as I have loved you, that ye also love one another" (John 13).

Related passages from the Christian Science textbook will speak of Jesus' complete obedience to God's will: "This is the new understanding of spiritual Love. It gives all for Christ, or Truth. It blesses its enemies, heals the sick, casts out error, raises the dead from trespasses and sins, and preaches the gospel to the poor, the meek in heart" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 33).

MPC Board Gives Reasons For Bond Election On February 16

Five weeks from this coming Tuesday, Carmelites will be asked to vote on a $4,712,000 bond issue for Monterey Peninsula College.

Reasons for this bond election given by the MPC board of trustees headed by Mark Raggett, are as follows:

1. Enrollment will increase by 68% in 1970. This is an increase of 1,274 students by the most conservative estimates.

2. The majority of the campus facilities have outlived their usefulness. Adequate facilities are available for 700 students and over 1,800 are enrolled. Converted World War II barracks, which make up the remainder of facilities, have outlived usefulness and create high maintenance costs. They must be removed and replaced by multistoried buildings.

3. Current facilities make it impossible to broaden the curriculum as recommended by the Citizens' Committee to Study MPC.

4. Doors are closing in our four-year colleges and universities.

5. Higher education, including the junior colleges, will have to enroll 96,000 more students in 1967 than they did in 1964.

6. Fifty thousand students, eligible for admission to California's universities and state colleges, are to be diverted to the junior colleges.

7. Our district must pay for students sent to another junior college district for education.

8. THIS BOND ISSUE WILL MAKE IT POSSIBLE FOR MPC TO OBTAIN OVER $1,500,000 FROM STATE AND FEDERAL SOURCES. WITHOUT THE BOND ISSUE, THESE FUNDS WILL BE REDISTRIBUTED TO OTHER COLLEGES.

City Council Acts On Auto Parking

ning commission.

The council also approved a limited time parking zone for the Little Gem Laundromat on Junipero street and heard a report on double-parking by trucks.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg had requested council consideration of the truck problem. Last night, Councilmen Stephen Grant and James Buffington, the council's lands and improvements committee, reported that state law appears to prohibit any control of truck parking. Mr. Grant said a legal opinion on this matter would be requested from the League of California Cities. Mayor Herbert Blanks requested that a final report on the double-parking matter contain a definitive answer on what restrictions the city might consider.

The council denied the claim of Jack C. Herron for reimbursement of the $2 cost of having a tar-spattered suit cleaned. The depositing of fill to widen Dolores Street between Third and Fourth avenues met with council approval. James R. Belvail was re-employed on a casual basis as assistant fire chief at $3.74 an hour. Charles Grimshaw and Erik Jensen were employed as firemen.

First reading was given to the ordinance that will increase garbage collection rates on April 1. Monthly collections for one can in the residential area will be 50 cents a month higher thereafter.

Mayor Blanks praised Chief Clyde Klaumann and the police department for their work in 1964 as shown in the police department's annual report. Mr. Blanks also asked that study be given to reduction of faulty parking citations by some revision of existing stall designations.

Mayor Blanks appointed Councilman Stephen Grant to be a member of the educational advisory committee on training programs for municipal employees at Monterey Peninsula College.

further reported.

Therefore, as it looks now, on July 1 the city will take possession of the school and can operate it, as is, by adding a minimal parking lot.

But who will occupy the premises? Who is going to form the corporation. Is the council going to approve such a non-profit group? Shall there be a parking lot? What do citizens really want at Sunset?

It certainly seems that interested cultural organizations, the Sunset Committee, the city council and all those 1,220 voters who approved the purchase, also businessmen and motel owners, better get busy.

Let's have some constructive community action!

July 1 is getting closer and closer and closer!

From the Carmel Hill interchange to Asilomar Beach State Beach, the road to Pacific Grove has been included in the state highway system, the California Highway Commission announces. A recent survey showed that the 4.1 miles of roadway had been improved to standards acceptable for state maintenance, State Engineer J. C. Womack told the commission last month.

Carmel Center Gets Requested Zoning

Protests against the rezoning of 33 acres across from Mission Fields for a commercial center were presented to the Monterey County Board of Supervisors on Monday by 11 persons either in letters or telegrams. Gunnar Norberg of Carmel spoke against the rezoning as did, also, Robert C. Gilmour of Mission Fields and Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher representing the board of directors of the Carmel Citizens Committee.

Requests for delay on the rezoning came in writing from Colonel George A. Brown, president of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association, and, in person, from Mrs. Barbara Sherman.

Supervisors, however, approved the rezoning for Carmel Center which will be developed at an estimated cost of $6 million by Carmel Properties Company consisting of William L. Hudson, Charles Fuller and Francis I. Brown.

According to preliminary plans, Carmel Center will contain professional offices, a hotel, shopping center and two service stations.

Letters or telegrams protesting this development were sent by Tom Brown, Helen and John Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bellick, P. C. Silva, Rear Admiral and Mrs. C. D. Wheelock, Herbert McClean, Vice Admiral R. W. Hayler and Colonel Edward H. O'Malley.
